

MISS JOO WRITES

Notes on Becoming

April

A gentle reflection journal for anyone learning to move slower and trust what's unfolding.

2026

Dear one,

April taught me something I didn't expect.. that joy can feel uncomfortable when you're not used to it.

I caught myself smiling and immediately questioned it. I enjoyed a slow afternoon and felt guilty for not being productive. I let someone be kind to me and almost deflected it out of habit.

But this month, I practiced allowing. Allowing myself to feel good without earning it. Allowing softness without calling it weakness. Allowing an ordinary day to be enough.

This journal is for anyone who's been so focused on healing that they forgot to enjoy the life they're building. You're allowed to feel light. You're allowed to rest. You're allowed to be soft and still be strong.

With love,

Miss Joo

Blog Recap & Highlights

1. Allowing myself to enjoy things without guilt — April 7
2. Softness is not weakness — April 14
3. A quiet Monday that felt like healing — April 21
4. I'm no longer the version they remember — April 28

QUOTES TO SIT WITH

Joy doesn't need to be earned. It's not a reward for suffering long enough.

I want to be soft and steady. Gentle and grounded. Open and still safe.

Healing looks like sometimes.. just a regular day where you realize you're not carrying as much as you used to.

I'd rather be misunderstood and aligned than familiar and empty.

Reflections for This Month

REFLECTION 1

Joy inventory

List 5 small things that brought you joy this month. Don't filter.. even the tiny ones count.

1.

2.

3.

4.

5.

REFLECTION 2

The guilt check

When was the last time you felt guilty for enjoying something? What were you doing? Why did guilt show up?

GUIDED REFLECTIONS

REFLECTION 3

Softness reflection

Where in your life are you performing hardness when you'd rather be soft? What would it look like to let that go?

REFLECTION 4

An ordinary day

Describe a recent ordinary day that felt quietly beautiful. What made it special?

REFLECTION 5

Fill in the blanks

I deserve _____ even without earning it.

Softness for me looks like _____.

The old version of me would have _____. This version of me

_____.

Permission Slips

Write yourself 5 permission slips. Things you're officially allowing yourself to do, feel, or be — without guilt.

I give myself permission to:

1. _____
2. _____
3. _____
4. _____
5. _____

SIGNED

DATE

What I'm Grateful For

Three things from this month that I want to hold onto.

1

2

3

One moment of joy I want to remember:

My intention for May:

"Maybe that's enough. Maybe that's everything."

— NOTES ON BECOMING, APRIL

Miss Joo Writes

missjoowrites.com · @missjoo98